DETAILED ACTION

1. The preliminary amendment filed 6 December 2004 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group 1, claim(s) 1 – 6, drawn to methods of assaying for vascular dysfunction comprising determining whether there is inappropriate senescence and/or defective angiogenesis in at least the endothelium.

Group 2, claim(s) 7 – 12, drawn to methods of treating a neurodegenerative disorder or another cognitive impairment comprising administration of a drug or other treatment.

Group 3, claim(s) 13 – 18, drawn to methods of screening for drugs.

Group 4, claim(s) 19 - 23, drawn to methods of determining whether cells manifest a phenotype.

Group 5, claim(s) 24, drawn to a drug or other treatment of undefined structure.

Group 6, claim(s) 25 – 26, drawn to a method of producing stress-induced premature senescent cells and cells made by the same method.

3. The inventions listed as Groups 1 – 6 do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Group 1 is directed to methods of assaying for vascular dysfunction comprising determining whether there is defective angiogenesis in at least the endothelium. However because Chow et al. (2001. Society for Neuroscience Abstracts, Abstract 780.11) teach methods comprising whether endothelial tissue from patients with Alzheimer's disease have changes in gene expression consistent with defective angiogenesis, no special technical feature exists for Group 1 as defined by PCT Rule 13.2, because it does not define a contribution over the prior art. The technical features of Groups 2 – 6 do not share the same or corresponding technical feature with Group 1 as none of these groups requires the same starting materials and methods steps as the methods of Group 1. Because the technical feature of Group 1 is not a special technical feature and because the technical features required for Groups 2 – 6 are not present in the claims of Group 1, unity of invention is lacking.

Art Unit: 1649

4. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
